BBC Wildlife Photographer of the Year 2012

I was amazed and delighted to win another award at the Natural History Museum in London for this image of a polar bear with its ice world breaking up.

If anyone would like to have a giggle this is my BBC Worldwide TV debut. <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=O2cUa8WEFuo>

The little polar bear is now famous. And you can see on which side of the camera I belong!!

I won the "World in our Hands" category: our interaction

I wish you all a happy, healthy and prosperous 2013!

I spent Christmas and New Year leading skiers in the fabulous ski resort of Verbier for the Ski Club of GB. Weight was lost not gained - thanks to a lot of steep&deep skiing and the Swiss franc exchange rate (OMG).

I couldn't resist a cuddle from this beautiful (and VERY heavy) St Bernard dog.

with the natural world and how our actions can affect it. I was in Svalbard when this polar bear wandered the ice floes up to our boat at 4 in the morning. I was asleep in my bunk but managed to sort contact lenses and cameras before it realised our bacon was not for breakfast and sauntered off.

The "fisheye" lens makes the bear look diminutive and creates an impression of a "top predator" on top of the planet.

Baby photography

The happiest little baby has brought along her uncle, parents and grandparents for a Christmas photoshoot in our beautiful studio. All present problems solved!

If you need a present I can provide a gift voucher for any value.

Make it a New Year's resolution to get your family photographed!

I have a special offer for January 2013 - a photoshoot and framed 10"x8" image for £100.

Quote: HNY2013 when booking a photoshoot.

Getty images

I spend spare work time submitting images to stock libraries Getty and Photoshot. There's no point having zillions of images in hard drives when they could be enjoyed by others and bring in some cash. This pic of Indian women was taken at the Taj Mahal. More of my images can be viewed: <http://www.gettyimages.com>

National Museum of Scotland

I was commissioned by the National Museum of Scotland in Edinburgh to photograph some of the new exhibits being enjoyed by visitors to the museum following its three-year renovation costing £47 million. Most children are fascinated by T-rex and the Animal World gallery. My Arctic fox image is now wallpaper on the first level!

If you need other images please contact me directly.

MSc in Petroleum Engineering

I sat the Petroleum Economics and the Formation Evaluation exams for the MSc at Heriot Watt University in December. I can definitely see how the oil industry could appeal to gamblers! RIP JR Ewing.

Forth Replacement Crossing

An important part of the Forth Replacement Crossing project is the Intelligent Transport System. This will provide drivers heading to and from the new road bridge over the River Forth with up-to-the-minute information on road conditions.

Flare from the setting sun was the perfect way to "prettify" the gantry!

In November Nicola Sturgeon MSP, Scotland's Deputy First Minister, visited FCBC to be shown the cofferdam sections for the new bridge's foundations by David Climie, Transport Scotland Project Director.

Photo studio

for more examples of my work, plus prices.

Special January portrait promotion too! A photoshoot and framed 10"x8" image for £100. Quote: HNY2013 when booking.

November to a grey seal colony. The "Daily Mail" published this image of these charismatic marine mammals with the headline: "Mum seals her love with a kiss for her frozen pup". I was the one that was frozen.....

Arctic foxes

"The Daily Telegraph" has published 18 images of my Canadian Arctic foxes online in a photo gallery called "White on white".

Ironman Austria 2013

I'm not sure how this has happened - the recession might have something to do with it - but somehow I find myself training for Ironman Austria on June 30.

I am raising money for Macmillan Cancer Support again, and would be ever so grateful for your support and a few pennies if you are feeling healthy and grateful! (Every penny of your donations will be going to Macmillan).

The Ironman triathlon is a 2.4 mile swim, 112 mile cycle followed by a marathon (26.2 miles).

And although it still sounds IMPOSSIBLE, I am led to believe that it is achievable for "normal" wannabe athletes.

If you have enjoyed reading this I would be delighted if you would "like" my Facebook page for Anna Henly Photography, or would forward my newsletter to a friend (link below).

Scottish Court Service

I had an interesting job for the Scottish Court Service photographing Edinburgh Sheriff Court and the High Court. The photographs were for a new website for court users whether professionals working in the courts or first time users.

We will see!! I will certainly be giving it my best shot thanks to Edinburgh Triathletes.
