Multi-storey demolition

This was a job I had coveted for a while - a demolition job! Ramsay Court, Kincardine, was the last of three blocks of flats to be razed to the ground by Dem-Master in a controlled explosion. The implosion is an unbelievable sight, well worth the long wait endured in the wind and wintry showers. I had one camera for stills, and a second mounted on a tripod to capture video. "Blowdown" was on time - and fortunately they did remember to warn the photographers to switch on!!

If anyone would like to watch the demolition for themselves.... http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZYz_JDUe_kY&feature=share

I am hoping that summer is on its way - although I was warmer, and there was way more sunshine whilst skiing last winter.

I spent three weeks in March leading skiers in the ski resort of Vail, Colorado, for the Ski Club of GB. (Photo taken by Sarah Lane of EpicMixPhoto, with some helpful manhandling from a few strong ski bums).

I spend spare work time submitting images to stock libraries Getty and Photoshot. There's no point having zillions of images in hard drives when they could be enjoyed by others and bring in some cash. This pic of Edinburgh Castle is a popular one for tourism. MSc in Petroleum Engineering

I sat the Well Testing exam for the MSc at Heriot Watt University in April. Some very scary mathematics can reveal the size and nature of an oilfield if hydrocarbons are discovered!

Forth Replacement Crossing

I was commissioned by FCBC this month to take some photographs from a man basket to mark the completion of the Beamer Rock cofferdam, which will form part of the foundation of the Central Tower. The team's divers, piling crew, engineers and barge crew posed above the de-watered cofferdam while the crane driver skilfully flew the basket overhead so I could get some aerial shots. <http://www.transportscotland.gov.uk/>

Family photography

The most photogenic children have just spent THREE hours being photographed in our beautiful studio. The two children were inexhaustible and full of fun.

Their parents are going to have a nightmare trying to pick out their favourite images from so many keepers. If you need a present I can provide a gift voucher for any value. I have a special offer for summer 2013 - a photoshoot and framed 10"x8" image for £100. Quote: Summer2013 when booking a photoshoot.

Forth Replacement Crossing

These two photoshoots for FCBC and Transport Scotland were to record the impressive accumulation of cranes that had appeared in the Firth of Forth during the installation of the new bridge's foundations and steel caissons.

Pet portraits

They say never work with children or animals for a reason!! This doggie, with the patience of a saint, turned up with a toddler who just wanted to play and cuddle it to death. The images from a photoshoot like this are best displayed in a frame of many images.

Scottish Furniture

I have had a few photoshoots for the talented master craftsmen from the Scottish Furniture Makers Association. This beautiful rocking chair is an example of bespoke furniture by Tom Cooper. www.tctimberworks.com

Ironman Austria 2013

I will remember this winter for all the cycling in horrible snowy, rainy and windy conditions - as training for Ironman Austria on June 30. This would not have happened without the company of friends from Edinburgh Triathletes. The Ironman triathlon is a 2.4 mile swim, 112 mile cycle followed by a marathon (26.2 miles).

I am raising money for Macmillan Cancer Support again, and would be ever so grateful for your support and a few pennies if you are feeling healthy and grateful! (Every penny of your donations will be going to Macmillan). And although a lot of this race is definitely going to hurt, I understand the final 200m of the marathon does NOT!
